

Abstract

The present invention relates to compositions containing omega-3 fatty acid-containing oils and plant extracts and to their use as a dietetic food product or 5 pharmaceutical product or pharmaceutical preparation having an increased bioavailability of the secondary plant ingredients contained in the preparations.